DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear if Applicant is referring to the same "dent" or a different "dent" than referred to in claim 1. If the second "dent" does refer back to the one introduced in claim 1, then there is improper antecedent basis for the second "a dent". For examination purposes, Examiner will assume that Applicant intended to refer back to the dent in claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Li (US Pat 5339950).

With respect to claim 1, Li discloses a case comprising a case body (Li Fig 1 ref 1), an associated lid opening (ref 2 and 3) and closing the case body; an exchangeable cover replaceably attached to at least one of the lid and the case body to cover them, the exchangeable cover being configured to be slidable in a direction substantially parallel to a top surface of either the lid or the case body (Fig 2); a slide engagement member (see partial view of Fig 1 reproduced above referring to the groove and ribbed section of the lid) provided cooperatively between the lid and the exchangeable cover to permit the exchangeable cover to slide into an attaching position where the exchangeable cover is capable of being detachably attached to the lid; and a fastening member (see Fig 1 above) provided cooperatively between the lid and the exchangeable cover to permit the lid to hold and release the exchangeable cover along its sliding direction; and a dent (see Fig 1 above) provided adjacent to the engagement member for permitting (i.e. not preventing) the exchangeable cover to detach from the lid.

With respect to claim 2, Li discloses that the slide engagement member has a concave portion (i.e. the grooves; see Fig 1 above) provided in lid along a sliding direction of the cover, and a convex portion (see Fig 1 above) provided in the component (i.e. exchangeable cover) without the concave portion and slidably fitted in the concave portion, and the fastening member is a detachable projection elastically deformable (column 2, lines 27-28) in the concave portion and detachably mated with the convex portion.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/30/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Li fails to anticipate a cover that is "detachably attached" to the lid or cover, or a "dent" for permitting the cover to detach from the lid or case body. Li clearly anticipates the cover being at least capable of being "detachably attached". See Fig 1 generally. Li also anticipates a "dent" in as much as Applicant has defined the limitation and related it to the surrounding structure of the case in claim 1.
